Why Search Windows are Essential Tools

Let's face it. Much of what using the Internet is all about is searching for useful information and wanting to have the tools readily at hand to accomplish this activity quickly, easily, and effectively. After all, why not save time and maximize your search-related productivity whenever you can, right? So, it really does make perfect sense to have a convenient search capability provided somewhere within each Web page.

How and Why Scsi extended Search Window Functionality

To your benefit, Scsi even goes beyond just this basic provisioning. According to the radio button you select before initiating the search process, you can either choose to search anywhere within the Scsi P&KT Web site for something - or you can choose to perform a search that encompasses the entire Internet domain.

Here's a representative sequence for how you might wish to proceed with your search activity:

1. Specify whichever domain (Scsi P&KT Web site or WWW) that you wish to employ - doing so by selecting the appropriate radio button selection or its label located just below the search window proper.
2. Enter the desired search string in place of the default of "Enter a search string (up to 255 characters) here."
3. Select the Google engine-based Search button to initiate the search process and wait for the search to complete.
4. View the displayed set of search results for your specific search query - displayed in a Google engine-based search results window.
5. Decide whether to make a selection from the displayed list of associated hyperlinks or to select the Back button to return to the Scsi P&KT Web site page from which you initiated the search operation.

Pretty simple, huh? That's what Scsi strives to provide you: Quick, effective, and useful ways to obtain meaningful information in a straightforward and seamlessly integrated manner.
